

Improve quality and increase productivity with ISO 9001

QUALITY MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS

ISO 9001:2015 is the international standard for Quality Management Systems, which allows an organisation to consistently provide products and services that meet high quality standards, customer demands and satisfaction, as well as related regulatory requirements.

The requirements of the ISO 9001:2015 are generic in nature and can be applied in any organisational setting, regardless of its type, size, products or services it provides. This standard is built upon a number of quality management principles including a strong customer focus, the motivation and implication of top management, the process approach and continual improvement. Implementation and certification of the management system demonstrates an organisation's commitment to continual improvement in both their operational processes, and the delivery of quality products and services.

ISO 9001 contributes to the UN's Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), specifically:
Goal 1: No Poverty
Goal 9: Industry, Innovation & Infrastructure
Goal 12: Responsible Consumption & Production
Goal 14: Life Below Water

An effective and efficient Quality Management System will:

- Ensure that the organisation will consistently provide products and services that meet customer expectations
- Maintain the consistency and quality of the organisation's procedures, processes and outputs
- Demonstrate commitment and ensure compliance with applicable statutory and regulatory requirements related to the products or services offered
- Increase organisational efficiency, effectiveness and profitability through continual process improvements
- Enhance corporate image and branding, and improve access to global markets
